Better tools for better investing

Deep, comprehensive market coverage.

Russell indexes represent over 98% of the investable universe.

Completely objective. Russell indexes are constructed using rules-based, transparent methodology for creating ideal benchmarks and trading vehicles. There is no sampling.

Modular and accurate. Russell indexes are modular in their design with a consistently applied methodology. The indexes have consistent market cap breaks to determine which companies are large cap and small cap.

Rigorously maintained. Daily corporate actions, monthly share adjustments, quarterly IPO inclusions and annual total reconstitution ensure that the indexes accurately represent the true opportunity set.
